This month's meeting is the Darwin Day event as described on Page 1. This will surprise and delight you in unexpected ways, as well as provide the kind of insight you have come to expect from our Darwin Day activities.

Just a bit more info on our speakers...

Dr. David Lynn works to understand the structures and forces that enable supra-molecular self-assembly, how chemical information can be stored and translated into new molecular entities, and how the forces of evolution can be harnessed in new structures with new functions.

Dr. Elaine Hull will tell us about her research into how well the adaptability of the human brain has made us all susceptible to religion and other non rational responses to life. Her psychological research has great implications for the progress of our species.

Dr. Herb Silverman has a well deserved reputation as an outstanding Humanist speaker. He is a mathematician, and an aspiring politician, (what a combo!) but mostly he's a really funny guy with an arresting point of view.

We note with sadness and condolence, the passing of Dave Kovar's sister.

Food: the first kindness. Humanists aspire to true friendship with our fellow human beings.

An important measure of this concern is care for the physical well being of others. As reactionaries in congress vote to cut the budget for food stamps and other key supports, there is increasing hunger here in our community. Thanks to Glenn Paul, chair. Ed Note: Glenn needs assistance.

We need volunteers! See a board member. Or write to jim@suncoasthumanist.com Thanx.

We celebrate this day of reason along with thousands of others around the globe.

The science it promotes is the not only a shining beacon of human progress, but also the light of human survival.

Humanists work to build a world in which happiness is the enduring criterion of social policy.

What is the Humanist Way?

1. To extend a human centered approach to the critical problems of life and society.
2. To encourage attitudes of kindness, compassion, tolerance and a loving generosity in human relationships, and in our treatment of all life. These attitudes help us to see ourselves in the lives of others and encourage appreciation for the remarkable diversity of human culture and experience.
3. To develop and popularize the skills of creative and critical thinking that empower people to challenge prejudice, superstition and irrationality in every area of life. Such empowerment enables the individual to reach the highest levels of achievement.
4. To exalt those artistic and imaginative expressions of life which have been the source of the greatest pleasure and enlightenment, and which reflect compelling human truths. Through music, literature, art, dance, and other expressions, we embrace the essence of what it means to be human.
5. To explore the grounds of ethics and morality within the unfolding history of our evolving culture. Such knowledge will enable us to become effective protagonists for the happiness of the individual person. JP

HUMANISTS CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE FOR A CHILD

The need is great. All it takes is about an hour out of a day and the commitment to show up once a week. The feeling of having helped is most gratifying. How can we as Humanists not act to impact a child in the inner city in a positive manner?

YOU can give a child a much-needed hour of personal attention that will encourage reading and just might help them to move forward while improving their self-esteem.

2014 was the Earth's warmest year

since records began in 1880, according to reports from federal scientists published Friday. The finding reached by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and NASA offers more confirmation of the planet's warming trend as a result of greenhouse gas emissions.

NOAA stated that 2014's combined global land and ocean surface temperature was 1.24°F above the 20th century average, surpassing the previous warmest year record set by 2005 and 2010.

Looking at the areas separately, the ocean was record warm, while the global land temperature was the fourth warmest. Further, the 20 warmest years all occurred in the past 20 years, and there have been 38 consecutive years of above-average global temperatures.

"This is the latest in a series of warm years, in a series of warm decades," stated Gavin Schmidt, Director of NASA's Goddard Institute of Space Studies (GISS) in New York. "While the ranking of individual years can be affected by chaotic weather patterns, the long-term trends are attributable to drivers of climate change that right now are dominated by human emissions of greenhouse gases."

Commenting on the record-breaking year, meteorologists Jeff Masters and Bob Henson wrote: Climate change is already causing significant impacts to people and ecosystems, and these impacts will grow much more severe in the coming years. New research is painting a clearer picture of the tough decisions that lie ahead if we hope to reduce the serious risks that we and our planet face. As we approach the critical negotiations in Paris in December to hammer out a new binding climate change treaty, we should keep in mind that we can choose to take economically sensible steps to lessen the damage of climate change, and the cost of inaction is much higher than the cost of action.

Africa's Solar Revolution

A new solar energy movement is bringing kilowatts to previously unlit areas of Africa – and changing the lives of hundreds of thousands of people. The idea behind the latest effort isn't to tap the power of the sun to electrify every appliance in a household. Instead, it is to install a small solar panel not much bigger than an iPad to power a few lights, a cellphone charger, and other basic necessities that can still significantly alter people's lives.

Just as the countries of Africa bypassed the era of copper land line telephones in favor of cell phones, so this movement may enable them to become world leaders in consumer controlled local energy development.

Going smaller better fits the budgets of the rural poor. People use the money they normally would spend on kerosene to finance their solar systems, allowing them to pay in small, affordable installments and not rely on government help. The concept is called pay-as-you-go solar. The simultaneous development of low power LED lamps promises even greater efficiencies. Many see it as helping to overcome the problems that have plagued previous solar "revolutions" in Africa.

Florida NOW

<http://www.flnow.org/>

NOW is a multi-issue political organization. NOW's self-defined role has been to initiate change for the benefit of the greatest number of people, to affect the legal and institutional structures of the society in a way that systematically expands the choices and possibilities available to all women. In this way, NOW takes action to bring women, as a class, into the mainstream of society, rather than offering aid to individual women in achieving personal solutions or temporary relief from oppression.

The Florida National Organization for Women is a group dedicated to taking action to bring ALL women into full equality and participation through changing policy, law and culture. This mission attracts women and men of diverse backgrounds and gives us the ability to look at the systemic oppression in our lives and determine actions that will bring about change for all women.

Celebrated author Gloria Steinem will be the speaker at a fundraiser luncheon Wednesday, Feb. 11, at the Crowne Plaza Tampa-Westshore. Ms. Steinem will receive the Helen Gordon Davis Women's Leadership Award at that time. For tickets, call Gail King at 813-251-8437, ext.225.

FLORIDA REPORT

Civil liberties news in the Sunshine State

When we filed our marriage lawsuit last March, we knew that someday love would win in Florida and that the couples we represented would be able to have their marriages recognized in the state they call home. Today, that historic day has finally arrived. Finally, all loving couples across the state are able to marry, regardless of gender, and those who are already married outside of the state of Florida will have their marriages officially recognized.

Sign our wedding guestbook to congratulate our plaintiffs on the recognition of their marriages and thank them for their fight!

Many Florida couples have waited years – even decades – for the chance to marry and have their marriage recognized in the state that they call home. After numerous attempts from the state to keep this day from coming, even asking the U.S. Supreme Court to delay it, love has prevailed. Now, all couples will be treated equally in the state of Florida as they plan for a future together.

Today would not be possible if it wasn't for the courageous couples we represented in a federal marriage lawsuit that challenged the state of Florida's refusal to recognize their marriages.

Join us in congratulating the couples who made today possible!

Whether you or a loved one plan on getting married today, or will finally have their marriage recognized, or you are just a supporter of the cause of equality, today we celebrate the beginning of a fairer Florida and the end of a law that has hurt too many families for too long. Thank you for being a part of this journey with us. Thank you for standing with us. For more:

David Goldfield is the Robert Lee Bailey Professor of History, University of North Carolina, Charlotte and author of the acclaimed book America Aflame (2011). He argues that although the War ended slavery and saved the Union, it did not resolve the status of the freed slaves or the nature of the new Union. "How Americans remembered that war would shape those issues over the next 150 years."

The USF Humanities Institute, established in 2003, provides a forum where ideas are debated, values are clarified, and students, faculty, and community come together to envision a better world.

Florida Atheists

Chair, Tracy Thomas, President, Judy Adkins

Join our Tampa chapter on Sunday, Feb 15 for our annual meeting. But we urge everyone to join us at the Darwin day events described on page 1 of this newsletter.

See the AoF Meetup for more information.

JOIN US - AoF meeting information can be found at our Meetup site and more information about the organization can be found on our website and on our Facebook page.

Soon you will be able to subscribe to AoF's news service, keeping you informed of matters of importance to the freethought, secular community.

AoF is a comfortable and safe place in which to find rewarding new friendships, to discover hidden potentials, and make a positive contribution to your own humanity as well as that of others. We are pleased to offer legal assistance with church state separation issues as an important focus.

Look for exciting new programs and internet webcasts (audio & video). Let us know if you wish to participate. We are a resource for those with questions and doubts about the standard religious narrative of life.

For many people, atheism represents the most focused and powerful criticism of the philosophical worldview with which most of us were raised. It is liberating for the same reason it attracts the enmity of those who are committed to the closed and changeless narrative of unexamined traditional beliefs.

Because it is such a foundational and wrenching break with the past and because it leads the way in recognizing a broad range of possibilities for both scientific and social progress, atheism is an essential pillar for all other humanist and freethought philosophies. We join our coalition organizations to provide an essential part of the unique spectra of thought and activity that is vital to human progress. From a personal standpoint, we bring a human centered ethic to bear in serving our fellow human beings as they struggle to overcome the delusional psychology of years of religious conditioning. JP

Recognize Religious Freedom Day

Enacted by Congress in 1992 and officially recognized every January 16 by an annual presidential proclamation, Religious Freedom Day ought to be an official national holiday. After all we have off for Easter, the religious celebration that really should have no official recognition in a truly secular, democratic country. Let's celebrate one of the most important tenets of our country, religious liberty.

What is Religious Freedom Day all about?

Religious Freedom Day commemorates the enactment of the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom in 1786. From President Obama's 2014 proclamation we are reminded the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom, penned by Thomas Jefferson, declared religious liberty a natural right and any attempt to subvert it "a departure from the plan of the Holy Author of our religion, who being Lord both of body and mind, yet chose not to propagate it by coercions on either. The Statute inspired religious liberty protections in the First Amendment, which has stood for almost two and a quarter centuries."

President Obama's 2014 proclamation

"Today, America embraces people of all faiths and of no faith. We are Christians and Jews, Muslims and Hindus, Buddhists and Sikhs, atheists and agnostics. Our religious diversity enriches our cultural fabric and reminds us that what binds us as one is not the tenets of our faiths, the colors of our skin, or the origins of our names.

"What makes us American is our adherence to shared ideals -- freedom, equality, justice, and our right as a people to set our own course."

The American Revolutionists' Resolve

The fact is American Revolutionists were fleeing from the official church of England, the Anglican Church, even as it crossed the pond and invaded the Virginia Colony. Their goal was to root out religious preferences and privilege within the newly established civil government, including paying out taxpayers funds to religion organizations and disallowing religious beliefs from invading civil law, NO MATTER THE RELIGION. Religious fanatics distort and try to rewrite U.S. history by declaring the country was founded as a "Christian" nation.

Jennifer Hancock started this organization several years ago. It uniquely serves Humanist families with a variety of wonderful programs throughout the year.

There is a strong emphasis on creative childrearing. Here, you can make connection with other families dealing with the problems of living in a society that is still hostile to an explicitly Humanist Way of life.

Jennifer is author of several books including: The Humanist Handbook, The Humanist Approach to Happiness, and her latest book, The Bully Vaccine (illustration below). - JP

Humanist Families organizes social outings every month. These are opportunities to do something fun, socialize and enjoy each other’s company. Sometimes we go to a park, sometimes a museum, sometimes we go swimming. Our group has grown over the past year to the point we now organize Tampa area outings and Manatee/Sarasota area outings every month.

Throughout the year we host parties like Darwin Day in February, World Humanist Day in June, Freethought Day at Disney in October and Carl Sagan Day in November.

Among our spin off groups, is a Parenting Beyond Belief group which gets together to discuss the challenges of raising children without religion. We are on Facebook .

Thank you!

Congressional Majorities may threaten Church State Separation

Jim Inhofe, a Republican U.S. senator from Oklahoma, believes the making of public policy should be left to a higher power.

"[G]od's still up there," Inhofe, a Religious Right ally, opined in 2012. "The arrogance of people to think that we, human beings, would be able to change what He is doing in the climate is to me outrageous."

Whether or not you agree with Inhofe on climate change is a secondary matter: The fact is, he wants to craft legislation based purely on dogma favored by a handful of people instead of policies that would help the entire country. Inhofe, a former insurance executive, has ascended to the head of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee – granting him a powerful platform from which to spread his ideas.

Inhofe received his promotion partly due to the Religious Right, which mobilized millions of voters who hate President Barack Obama ahead of the November elections. Thanks in part to the fact that 78 percent of white, evangelical Protestants who participated in an election last year voted for Republicans, both the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate are under conservative control for the first time since 2006. As a result, defenders of separation of church and state can expect a steady flow of congressional measures that could harm religious liberty.

The issues in play will include school voucher expansions, "religious freedom" exemptions to secular laws, the role of religion in the military and attempts to provide direct federal funding for houses of worship.

Day of Solidarity for Black Non-Believers 4th Sunday in February

The percentage of black non-believers in the U.S. is small but increasing. Most have difficulty meeting other black non-believers or finding many who are involved in secular organizations. The internet has made many connections possible; however, the common feelings expressed by black non-believers are those of isolation, loneliness, and alienation. Often the remedy for these feelings is activism. This activism includes diligently searching for and befriending other non-believers, working with as many other non-believers as possible to address social ills, continuing to be educated about the factual world, providing positive expressions for secular ideas through writing and public speaking, and strengthening the secular community by supporting existing organizations as well as creating dynamic new ones. Unfettered activism is captured in the purpose of the Day of Solidarity for Black Non-Believers.

Practical Freethought

So you don't believe in gods? You are not alone. And yes, you can be good without God. Millions are. Thousands of your friends and neighbors in the Tampa Bay area feel the same as you. The Tampa Bay Coalition of Reason is a group of local organizations representing freethinkers, humanists, skeptics, atheists and agnostics that provide a sense of community and a central clearinghouse for the many like-minded groups in the greater Tampa Bay area.

All of these groups share common ground, while each has its own particular emphasis and atmosphere. Some are focused on scientific inquiry and education. Others are focused on ethics and community, activism or the arts. Others monitor state/church separation and fight for your civil rights. All alike are committed to promoting the wider acceptance of a more rational and contemporary view of humanity and the universe we live in.

This site <http://unitedcor.org/tampabay> is where secular people in the Tampa Bay area can discover groups to join, activities in which to participate, events to attend and like-minded people with which to socialize. In short, we want to help those who have grown beyond religious belief to find their philosophical home.

Those nonbelievers who are not ready, or who are unable, to “come out” can take comfort in knowing that they are not the only ones who accept the reality of a 100% natural world.

For the religious community, we want them to realize that, although nontheists reject the supernatural, we share with them compassionate human values that most religious believers embrace. In most ways, we are like them; hard working, taxpaying, moral citizens who care deeply about our families, our communities, our state and our country.

Nontheists are a large minority, larger than many minorities having much more political and cultural influence than we do. Based on the US Census Bureau estimate of Florida's 2008 population and several polls, we estimate our statewide constituency at about 2,800,000 residents (more than 400,000 in the Tampa Bay quad-county area). TampaBay CoR has organized to increase our standing in the marketplace of ideas and to take our rightful place at the table of acceptance and equal rights. We invite all nontheists to support us in our efforts.

Even if you never join a group or attend a meeting you can help Florida move forward by contributing to local or national participating organizations. And you can always help to further the nontheistic community just by standing up proudly for your reality-based life among your friends and family. It's OK to not believe in gods. And, yes—you can be good without a god or religion. Millions of us are.
